

EUGENE B.G BAWELLE

Professional Summary

Eugene B.G Bawelle is an Economist with extensive experience in Banking and Finance, Environmental and Social Risk Management, Relationship Management, and supporting the growth of Small and Medium Enterprises in Africa. He is currently the Head of SME Banking at OmniBSIC Bank, Ghana, where he oversees the Bank's Small and Medium Enterprises. He is also a Lecturer at Academic City University College, teaching Microeconomics and Macroeconomics. Prior to these appointments, Eugene worked with the World Bank Group as a Consultant on Environmental and Social Risk Management in Banking. He also worked as a Policy Analyst at Gemma Advisors Ltd and No Birds Pyt in Australia as well as a Senior Banking Relationship Manager at Zenith Bank Ghana Ltd. Eugene Bawelle has more than a decade of work experience within multi-cultural environments and a working knowledge of French.

He holds an Msc in Economics (Energy option) from Curtin University in Australia. He also holds an MA in Economic Policy Management and a BA in Economics from the University of Ghana. Eugene is currently a PhD student at the Graduate School of Business, University of Cape Town, South Africa.